Dear Montana Hunter,

Montana law specifies that ALL hunters must obtain landowner permission before hunting on private property.

In order to help hunters comply with the law, Fish, Wildlife, & Parks (FWP) staff prepared this directory of landownership maps to assist hunters in trying to identify landowners and boundaries. Although maps are good tools, hunters should also contact area landowners and land management agency staff to ensure that map information is correct.

Ultimately, the key to maintaining Montana hunting access revolves around hunters and landowners establishing good relationships and communicating with each other. I hope this guide helps facilitate that communication.

Good luck afield.

Understanding the law:

Section 87-3-304, MCA, reads:

“Landowner’s permission required for hunting.

(2) Except for hunting big game animals on private property, a person in possession of a valid hunting license who violates this section shall, upon conviction for a first offense, be fined an amount not to exceed $25.”

NOTE: While conviction of the first offense involving any animal other than big game animals shall result in a fine not to exceed $25, any subsequent offense (including first offense involving the hunting of big game animals) may result in penalties that include:

- a fine not less than $50 or more than $1,000, and/or;
- imprisonment in county jail for not more than 6 months;
- forfeiture of the privilege to hunt, fish, or trap in Montana for a specified time;
- forfeiture of the privilege to use state lands for recreational purposes for a specified time.

ALL HUNTERS are required to obtain landowner permission before hunting on private property, regardless of game animals (birds and mammals) hunted.*

ASK FIRST to Hunt on Private Property!

Maps identifying ownership of land in Montana are available from various county, state and federal agency offices. Private land ownership (by owner's name) is generally identified in county plat books and/or county conservation district maps. These documents may be available only through personal review at the county courthouse, or there may be copies available for purchase. Public land ownership (by agency name) is generally identified in maps produced by the appropriate land management agency.

Map information is only as current as the most recent date of printing, so users are advised to view maps as tools to identify potential land ownership, but to verify actual ownership through personal contact with private landowners and land management agency officials.

Internet Resources for Maps and Land Ownership information:

Montana Fish Wildlife & Parks

FWP offers an interactive website to assist hunters and anglers in determining public and private ownership for specific parcels throughout the state. From the FWP main page, users should choose their specific area of interest, hunting or fishing, and follow site links to the trip planning area. This site is a powerful tool for locating parcels and identifying land ownership information. Website address: <http://www.fwp.mt.gov>
 You can also go directly to <http://nris.mt.gov/gis/ownmaps.asp>

Montana Department of Transportation – County Road Maps

The maps indicate cities, towns, national forests, federal reservations, game refuges, lakes, reservoirs, streams, railroads and mountain peaks with elevations. Drainage and alignment of roads are checked with aerial photographs when needed. The information shown on county maps is based on the latest available roadway data. The actual status of the roads may differ depending on when the last county inventory was completed. Website address: <http://www.mdt.state.mt.us/scripts/planning/mapping/countymaps.pl>

Montana State Library - Natural Resource Information System

The Montana Natural Resource Information System (NRIS) Geographic Information System (GIS) acts as a clearinghouse for GIS databases and provides services to State, Federal, Private, Non-Profit, and Public groups or individuals needing access to GIS technology and information. The information available from this site includes detailed statewide GIS data, USGS topographic maps and an interactive mapping feature. Website address: <http://nris.mt.gov/gis>

Public Lands Information Center

This site offers an interactive resource for detailed recreation information on public lands throughout eight western states. Visitors can also order maps, books, and other information related to public land recreation. <http://www.publiclands.org>
